In Memory of

DOCTOR NOLAN M. CANTER, SR.

He was our doctor, counsellor and friend; but this does not describe him as the person he was, for Doctor Canter was a capable, experienced doctor, a dependable counsellor, and a dedicated Christian man. His words were words of wisdom, and his advice was that of knowing the art of human nature. He was skilled in the profession closest to his heart - for these reasons Doctor Canter's memory is warm within our hearts and will remain close to us all. For one who knew the joy of living and giving, he has left to us the greatest challenge of life itself:

> "And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity."

I Corinthians 13:13

Dedication

Because she is dedicated to the profession of nursing. . . . . .
Because she has inspired, encouraged, and given us guidance. . . .
Because she is present when we need her. . . . . .
Because, in her eyes, we never fail, but strive to succeed. . . . . .
Because her very suggestion instills challenge. . . . . .
Because of this, and more, with respect, gratitude, and deep sincerity, we proudly dedicate the 1958 edition of "The Trothist" to our friend and counsellor

Foreword

In the pages to follow, we hope to relive, with all of you, memories which have added pleasure, understanding, responsibility, joy, and many experiences to our lives during the past three years.

No more will the echo of voices from our class defy the void of quiet; the shadows cast will not be our shadows as students but those of you who are beginning to experience as students here at R. M. H. We have reached our goal - nursing, but we also hope to keep reaching, and it is our hope that you will continue to do so.

Perhaps, as you turn the pages of this book, you too will realize that the past three years have been well worth living, and as we look to the future, it is our desire that you recognize our gain and fulfillment in presenting to you, the 1958 edition of

. . . and . . . Back . . . to . . .

Reread these words a minute, and the remainder of us, or perhaps the "remains" of us 19 seniors will recall that they mean not only one of many things: either catastrophy, plots for. . ? . . , "kleptomaniac-ism, " paranoid tendencies, the will to survive, the law of the tooth and fang, wit, exaggeration, staying awake because you won't get up at six if you fall asleep, or perhaps sheer, unadulterated frustration - anyway, life these three years cannot be described by mere, indescribable adjectives! ! So. . . Back. . . back. . . and back again to the nurses' home!

Remember the famous "RMH Tea Party" when we all stared at each other, and made our first impressions?

And Blanche's stunt with the flower pot and Shelby's brain concussion.

Didn't Witt get hepped up the night of Shir and Nan's cider party when "Minnipoo Parney" and "Embraceable Blanche" danced - (Danced?)

Remember the Washington and Lee boys chasing us up the steps in our housecoats? Did this influence our "school song"?

Hey, Gerry, Say you liked to give medications? (Especially sedatives!)

Must be nice to chauffeur uniformed girls in Model-Ts like "Black Beauty, " Jenn. Did you all have your lil' ole' pictures taken? Ha

How about the night we tried to dump Ruth in the well! - and Mrs. Kline caught Blanche and Foltz under the bed so "embarrassed"; Pence twiddling her fingers while asleep and Witt reading "Uncle Tom's Cabin. "

Nan got a large charge out of waking third floor at three a. m. in her nightmares and Ruth's "Operation Stitches. "

Remember the day at Gypsy Hill Park when we cut watermelon with a fingernail file?

Witt and Foltz sure did know how to splinter wood on rainy eve!

How about the "graduation exercises" Nan, Ruth and Blanche gave?

Marge, did you ever find your earring in the tree outside Barton Hall?

Wonder if Cathy and Blanche ever recovered from that one-half hour date at the high school one night?

As usual, Verne was wide-eyed and big-mouthed when she yelled "help" in the middle of the night while delivering a baby!

Margaret Rose, what did you ever do with those tadpoles?

Were Blanche, Cathy and Shelby ever disappointed when Ruth and Witt didn't get heart failure from the "Hung-nurse" on the step-railing.

Gerry, say, you made a better football tackler than Foltz - Maybe it was D.C. - or ask Fern the reason. Cathy, you think it was after our time at the "Willard?"

"10th Place" Nan, that's what we call her!

Witt always was a compassionate soul - remember the night she brought that little fellow up to third floor and he taught us card tricks?

Speaking of cards - who were the "card sharps" in our bunch?

Blanche, I bet you won't forget the time you sat down without being told to do so!

We'll never forget J. C. and her chuckle (that kept us awake) or Swink's jazz-crazed sessions.

Anne - did you enjoy yourself the night a couple of us went riding near Massanetta Lake and Geraldine's stunt?

. . . the . . . Nurses' . . . Home . . .

How about the night a certain three stayed awake all night, supposedly studying for a social problems exam and giggled practically six hours?

Where'd we usually get flowers to decorate our rooms? (No mass destruction resulted.)

Dr. Leroy Byers really inspected those Washington and Lee boys, didn't he, Blanche and Nan?

Cathy, why didn't you use your zepharin and catheter?

Wonder what ever happened to the I. O. U. Witt, Parnell and Foltz never paid? Did anything ever happen behind the green door?

Nancy, even if your birthday cake got flattened, we enjoyed it - maybe it was because it was the occasion of your engagement to Tom!

Jenn, we never did stop riding you about "Falsie Bill," did we?

How relieved a certain person was when Lou stopped pulling the bed out from the wall at six a. m. !

"Twilight Tulips" and the "twilight walks" - how naive can he get?

Blanche - did you ever pack your suitcase, but the tables were turned? Whatever did Shep say?

Parnell, were you awake when the court-square-bell tolled two a. m. ? Nope, we were pretty much awake, huh?

Shame on you, Witt! That poor defenseless baby. (And we said she was compassionate.)

Who were the daring souls that tried to start that crater of a machine during the building of the new doctor's parking lot?

And who was famous for leaving their blinds up at night? Remember the night we were slaving away on the annual and some guy yelled at us through the window to come down stairs and we hesitated, and. . .

We had a hard time deciding which car was the "mostest" to ride in - C. S. 's or "Stumpy's" - that is still open to discussion.

We'll never forget Cathy's "deed, I mean to tell you! "

How about that day when Gerry had so much "fun" in the back seat on the way back from Catawba and Shelby and Cathy nearly died of hysterics listening to her yak away!

How about our version of harmonizing to "Lollipop"!

Remember the time J. C. tried to burn us out of house and home and wound up minus a few things, including a bottle of cologne!

"Who stole my cigarettes, my scissors, my this and my that" - we learned to use that phrase tactfully, huh?

Remember the times we all decided to go on a strike, and everybody would always go on to work anyway? Or we decided we just didn't want to work that day and did?

How about the time Cathy went to work at 11 and didn't wear her hose and just did the aide's work!

How about the time Shelby went charging down the steps to answer the phone and went flying through the air and fell flat on her nose!

Gerry always was a good one for pulling stunts, like: the beautiful blonde!

Well now, there are lots of things that ring a bell to us and no one else would appreciate the gist of the stories but us, and those situations are ours alone - to always be remembered "back at the nurses' home.

OUR HOUSEMOTHER. . . MRS. MARIE KLINE

"For three short years
Of fun, frolic and laughter,
And three long years of "the morning after"
She's listened to our screeches
And fought our funny "games"
And tried so hard to teach us
"The art of "lady-dames."
So often she'd beseech us
Amidst our racking riot. . .
For then when she would reach us. . .
All was peace and quiet.

As for that morning after -
We'd trot across the lot
To justify our laughter
(But then we forgot
That come graduation
We'd realize her scheme:
She'd enjoyed our elation
And she was there to lean
On for tears of frustration
Or even just to gripe!)
She's been our close relation
(Beneath that radiator-pipe!)
And as the saying goes - No book's told by it's cover,
So here's to our "fighter of foes,"
Our unforgettable, lovable housemother!"

The Upper Room

A nurse is sunshine in the bleakest hours of human life. She brings charm to a house of antiseptics and detergents. She makes a small cloth cape twinkle like a costly mink.

She is an angel of the gentleword and soothing touch. She is the strong hand that moves a 200 pound patient in one deft turn.

She moves softly and swiftly, and the swish of her uniform in the corridor gladdens the heart of the ill. She is everybody's leaning post.

She shields herself with calm against the rude patient, the whiner, the cantankerous, the bossy. Her face is a mask in the depths of stress and strain. She is a Mother, a bully, a friend. She is kind, scolding, and flattering. Her smile is equal to a mountain of medicine.

She is a veteran of human joy and tragedy. She is an authority on pain. She has witnessed death when it is cruel and when it is merciful. She has clasped the hand of life to the threshold of death.

She is the one whose heart is broken a million times. She melts the pleading eyes of every ailing child. She keeps a vigil when he is sinking. And she sobs herself to sleep when he is taken away.

She is a woman of sacrifice, of hidden emotion, of gallant selflessness. She is a buck private in a hierarchy of discipline. She is a beautiful queen to a curly headed boy.

She is the one who shares the torture of every patient's crisis. And then she rides home on a pink cloud when he makes it.

She is the one who teaches good diet and herself nourishes on quick peanut-butter sandwiches.

She is the one who watches romance pass by and yields to the duty of her ironing board.

She is the girl in white whose duty ranks with the noblest of human effort. Her pay is not great.

Her biggest reward shines through the eyes of those she serves. She was born with a passion for nursing.

. . . About Our Hospital History . . .

". . .I direct that the said trust shall cease and my said executors, or their successors shall thereupon pay over and deliver all the rest and residue of my estate embracing proceeds of said real estate and any accumulated income to the Mayor and Common Council of the Corporation of Harrisonburg, Rockingham County, Virginia, to be used by said corporation for the purpose of erecting, establishing, or maintaining a hospital within the corporate limits of said town to be under such auspices, management, and control as the said mayor and common council may from time to time deem most for the benefit of the injured, afflicted, or diseased persons, well knowing from my own experience, the great need of the community in which I live, of an institution in which the afflicted may receive proper care and attention and be relieved and comforted in their bodily sufferings."*

From the gift of W. G. Leake in 1908, we had the beginning of our hospital, The Rockingham Memorial Hospital, Harrisonburg, Virginia.

During the first year of operation, the hospital had 213 surgical cases, 75 medical cases, 0 births, and 13 deaths, compared with the 1,219 surgical cases, 2,101 medical cases, 1,431 births, and 268 deaths of 1957. The total number of admissions, excluding the newborn, was 8,485 in this year. Our average daily census was 62.3 medical patients, 20.5 surgical, 35.2 obstetric, and newborn patients, and 13.1 pediatric patients.

Through the years, our hospital has expanded to be the building it is today, with our new additions taking place at this time; it's service has grown and developed; it's facilities have been chosen as time has allowed for improvement, and the people living and working within it's walls have grown with the hospital.

There are those who have watched our hospital grow, and there will be those who continue to watch the growth and development of once, so small a domain, to be bigger, better, taller; but most of all, they shall realize the onward and upward growth of our hospital.

*selected portion of the will of W. G. Leake

Compliments and Best Wishes From

R.M.H. School of Nursing

The Aims

To prepare nurses who will meet the community health needs, primarily through hospital staff nursing. We believe that they will have the foundation and potential to advance to positions of responsibility in the many current demands of nursing.

The Philosophy

We believe that nursing is an art based upon scientific principles, and that it requires a spirit of unselfish devotion to a cause primarily concerned with the preservation of health, the care of the sick and the rehabilitation of the patient.

We believe that the curriculum should be based on sound educational principles with its goal to educate the student to give complete nursing care. We believe that complete nursing care includes the recognition of the patient as an individual with physical, mental, and spiritual needs, not only in the sick room but as a member of a family, a neighborhood and a community. We believe that the curriculum must be flexible enough to make provisions for changing social and medical needs.

We believe that nursing experience should be planned to provide continuity, sequence and integration in all areas in order to effect a gradual broadening and deepening of understandings, values and skills.

We believe that the student should be encouraged to strengthen her own spiritual beliefs, and to develop a respect and understanding for all people, regardless of races, class or creed.

We believe we have a responsibility to provide guidance in a democratic atmosphere so that the student will have opportunity to make a happy adjustment to develop her potential qualities and so become a well-balanced person, a good nurse, a competent homemaker and a useful citizen.

There are so many folks to thank, that we don't know where to begin:

First, we want to thank those people who gave us permission to have an annual this year, and the interest shown by Mr. Liskey, Miss Reilley, and the faculty.

Thanks to all of you for standing or sitting still long enough to have your pictures taken!

And to Charles and Polly Photographers, we give our utmost thanks for your "patience and perseverance" in taking our pictures (of which we are so proud).

Thanks to all members of the Senior Class for pitching in and helping us along, and for your continuous "nagging" which initiated the will to try to make our annual acceptable this year.

And where in the world did we ever get all those snapshots? Well, thanks to whomever they belonged!

We certainly won't forget to thank everyone for your advertisements, which helped to make possible an annual this year - believe me, we were anxious when we put our foot in your front doors!

Thanks to all personnel for your interest, your questions, and your curiosity.

Last, but not least, thanks to Taylor Publishing Company, for publishing our annual, and to their representative, Mr. George Tanner.
